Examples: The following are examples of the types of questions that can be answered using the MasterFILE Complete database. The terms listed below the questions are examples of searches that can be used to find relevant results.

- ◆ I need information on the Vietnam War for a report.
 - Vietnam war
 - Vietnam War, 1961-1975 (this is proper subject heading for the war)
 - Try limiting your search results by Publication Date and use the years 1961-1975. This will limit your results to articles that were written during the war. It may also be useful to look at articles about Vietnam written a few years before and after the 1961-1975 time periods.

- ◆ I need to buy a new [insert the name of any appliance]. Where can I find a review of [appliance name]?

- Search for the name of the appliance.
- MasterFILE contains the full text of Consumer Reports and Consumer Reports Buying Guides. Both of these are great sources of reliable product reviews. The easiest way to find reviews from these sources is by using the Advanced Search option. In the first search box enter the name of an appliance or other item. In the pictured example, I searched for vacuum cleaners. In the second search box, enter consumer reports. In the corresponding Select a Field dropdown box select "SO Journal name". This will limit your search results to articles about vacuum cleaners that can be found in any journal or magazine that contains the words consumer reports.
